Selected Excerpts

From A Dress Code Violation:

She could easily imagine the woman ahead touching her toes for one of Miss M's caning sessions. Shauna found herself wishing it would happen. Teach this lady right for dressing so obscenely.

The outfit wouldn't have been quite so bad if the woman in question was young. Shauna could almost forgive a 15-year-old the crime, for what teenager knows anything? But this woman was past 30, heavysset, and while her bum wasn't exactly ugly, she was beyond the age at when it was appropriate to be flashing it to strangers.

For an insane moment, Shauna had the idea should she run up behind the woman and give that bum a smart slap. She pictured her lecturing the lady, telling her about the dangers of dressing like that.

From Bad Nannies:

"You guys are right. There should be consequences. I'll have no alcohol for a week. No, two weeks. And no ice cream, either!"

There were murmurs of agreement, but they weren't strong. Julie could tell they didn't think the punishment was enough.

"A month?" she asked.

"Better," said Zoey. "But I like Torrence's ass-spanking idea more!"

From First Class Lady:

Lucia³ took off her sneakers and socks, passing them to others for inspection. Her jeans were next. Though young, the girl had broad hips and a full bottom. Her white panties were cheap and plain, hiding little as they stretched across her heavy buns, but they had to come off, too.

She was blushing as she stood in the baking aisle completely naked and waited for the verdict. A few volunteers from those watching were carefully going through her discarded clothes and shaking their head that no earring was found.

"This doesn't prove anything," said Amanda¹ crossly.

About the Warning labels

Because spanking stories often involve extreme topics (S&M, sex acts, etc.), the Flogmaster labels his stories to give readers an idea of what might be included. Here's a sample:

Paul Bunyan and the Great Lakes

(★ ★ ★ ★ , M/Ffff—Absurdly Severe, nc ole fashion paddlin')

A strange new twist on the ole yarn about how Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox created the Great Lakes. (Approximately 1,758 words.)

The stars are the Flogmaster's own ratings of his stories. They indicate writing quality, not necessarily eroticism. Five star stories are my very best.

Stories are marked with mFmf labels to indicate who is spanking whom. Capital letters represent adults and lower case are minors (under 18), and of course, M refers to males and F to females. Under this system, anything to the left of the slash indicate a Spanker and anything to the right a Spankee. Therefore in the above example an adult male is spanking three girls and a woman. If there are a lot of people involved, sometimes this is abbreviated with a number, such as F6/f24, implying that 6 women spank 24 girls. Keep in mind that the label refers to the primary participants—sometimes, especially in longer stories—there may be minor spankings of a different type included.

I try to indicate the overall severity level (Mild, Serious, Intense, Severe, or Edgy), as well as what types of spankings are included (i.e. caning, birching, hairbrush spanking, etc.). Stories may also contain other warnings and explanations. These are usually self-explanatory words like "sex" or "anal" (to indicate types of sexual activity). You may also see references to cons or non-cons (or nc). Those abbreviations refer to consensual and non-consensual spankings. (Punishment spankings, especially those of children, are usually nc.) Some stories are labeled semi-cons, meaning it's partially consensual (e.g. a reluctant wife submitting to her husband's discipline because she knows she deserves punishment).

The second line contains a brief description of the story. I try not to include any "spoilers" that would ruin the plot for you. The description should intrigue if you are interested in the subject matter, and warn you away if you are not. As always, read at your own risk. There's also an approximate word count of the story.

A Break From the Routine

(★★★★, M/F—Intense, semi-consensual spanking)

A teacher on vacation is suddenly the taught. (Approximately 2,501 words.)

The black bikini wasn't half as revealing as most on the beach in Cancun, but for a conservative teacher like Sandra, it felt almost scandalous. She was 28 years of age, single, slender with a good figure, and still felt like she could pull off a skimpy swimsuit. Why not? She was on vacation and she didn't know a soul. It wasn't like one of her students would spot her.

Used to being well-covered at school in long dresses or slacks, she now felt like her ass was bare and her tits were popping out, though neither was the literal case. She stretched out on a recliner on the sand in the sun, enjoying the warmth that was such a change from the Kansas City winter. It felt so good. She'd only been here a day and already she was dreading her departure. She could tell her ten days of vacation were going to fly by far too quickly.

She wasn't sure when the shadow fell across her. By the time she looked up, it felt like the man had been standing there for a while. He was good-looking, though well-fed, probably in his forties. His short hair was well-groomed and dark. She guessed he was American, with his rainbow shorts, flip-flops, and a beach towel across his shoulders.

"Excuse me?" she said. "You're blocking my sun."

"I am trying to save your life."

Sandra blinked. She was drowsy and not feeling swift. All she could manage was a dorky, "Huh?"

"Skin cancer," said the man somberly. He seemed almost irritated, as though she were a disobedient pupil he needed to rebuke. "You're not wearing sunblock on your back."

"Is that your cheesy way of offering to put it on me?" She rolled her eyes. She'd already fended off three such advances and felt the risk of a sunburn was safer than letting strange creepy men touch her.

"I don't care who puts it on you—just that you put some on. My father worked in construction outdoors and passed away at age 56 from skin cancer, so I take it seriously.”

“Oh. I’m so sorry. That’s terrible.”

He nodded, his smile wan. “I’m like a former cigarette user who go around telling people not to smoke. It’s a curse.”

Sandra sat up. She felt rather naked in her bikini, but didn’t want to draw attention to that by reaching for her towel. Her breasts, which were modest, seemed unusually prominent in the black top.

The man’s tone was sad and she sensed his pain. She felt bad for thinking he was only trying to hit on her. Though older, he was rather handsome in a fatherly way. Her own father had died early, though not from cancer. He’d been taken in a crash when a driver swerved to avoid hitting a tractor crossing the highway and hit her dad’s car instead. It had been a terrible tragedy and she still missed him.

“You’re right,” she said, accepting his admonishment with grace. “I should have put on sunscreen, but I was in a hurry to get out here to relax, and it’s tough to put it on by myself.”

“Neither of those is much of an excuse.”

“You sound like my dad!”

“He’s gone,” Sandra said softly. “Car accident.”

“Ah. My condolences. But what would he have said about you sunbathing with no sunblock?”

“He’d have probably taken me to the woodshed,” grinned Sandra.

The man returned her smile and he looked even better without the frown. “As I said, wise man.”

“He was,” she nodded. “Strict, but it was all in love.”

The man looked up and down the quiet beach. “No woodsheds here. But I suppose we could go back to my suite.”

“Excuse me?”

“For your spanking. For not putting on sunblock.”

There was no trace of humor in his tone or his face. She thought he seemed deadly serious and a chill went through her, despite the warmth of the day. Her mouth opened, but nothing came out. She didn’t know what to say!

He motioned toward the hotel and for reasons Sandra couldn’t have explained in a hundred sessions with a therapist, she grabbed her towel and beach bag and followed him.

With every step she asked herself what she was doing. This was far weirder than letting a stranger put sunscreen on her body. But then she wondered if she’d misunderstood the man, or if he was joking. He had to be. Surely he wasn’t serious about his threat to spank her?

They rode the elevator up to the top floor. The man’s penthouse suite was enormous, with several rooms, a giant balcony with a view to die for, and even a kitchen. Her room was on the back side of the hotel and didn’t even face the water. She now felt like a pauper.

“Wow,” she breathed, and wondered if she sounded like she was drooling.

“It’s an upgrade from a woodshed, but it’ll have to do.” He winked.

Sandra felt a stirring of emotions. There was relief, for obviously the man had been kidding about the spanking, but then she also felt strangely disappointed. That made no sense at all.

At her job she often had to spank her students and she believed in such discipline. If administered consistently and fairly, it was an excellent and effective deterrent. She’d grown up well-spanked, for she hadn’t been lying about her father being strict, but it had been more than ten years since her last such punishment. Was it possible she missed such chastisements?

The man pointed to the bar. “I vote we handle business first, then I’ll offer you a drink,” he said gallantly. “You’ll be able to enjoy more after your spanking.”

Without waiting for her response, he strode into the main bedroom as though he owned the place. While he didn’t order her to come with him, it seemed to be implied. Hesitantly, wondering if she’d lost her mind, had been hypnotized, or slipped some drug, she dropped her things and followed.

He was sitting on the end of the bed, a large wooden hairbrush in his hand. She froze, her jaw hanging open. In that pose he reminded her so much of her mother and father when she was a kid ordered to their room for a spanking, that she couldn't move.

“The sooner you get over my lap, the sooner it'll be over,” he said sternly.

Sandra took a tentative step forward. She was sweating, though the air conditioning had the room chilly. She took another step. Her mind spun. She didn't understand what she was doing or why. This felt insane, and yet it also felt like it was the most natural thing in the world.

Another step and she was at his knee. Without further analysis, she leaned forward across his legs and laid herself down. She felt ridiculous. She felt successful. She was ashamed and excited. She was bewildered and wary.
